California Employment Consortium for Youth and Young Adults with Intellectual & Developmental Disabilities

(CECY) is a collaboration of 23 state agencies, centers, and organizations, families, and self-advocates with responsibilities for the education, rehabilitation, employment, and support of youth with disabilities. CECY is a five-year (2011-2016) Project of National Significance Partnerships in Employment Systems Change grant (#90DN0284) by the Administration on Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities (AIDD). The Tarjan Center at UCLA, a University Center for Excellence in Developmental Disabilities, provides its administrative leadership.

OUR VISION

In 2017, when we have successfully begun to increase the number of youth and young adults with intellectual and other developmental disabilities (IDD) in integrated competitive employment (ICE), we will see:

- A system that ensures successful transition into adulthood for youth and young adults with IDD.
- Pathways to employment for youth and young adults with IDD that are coordinated, widespread, and available.
- Youth and young adults with IDD, and their families, who envision success.
- Youth and young adults with IDD making informed choices about their future in post-secondary education and employment.
- Youth and young adults with IDD who transition into adult life prepared for real work for real pay.

OUR MISSION

To stimulate policy change and build capacity in California state systems and local communities to increase the number of youth and young adults with intellectual and other developmental disabilities in integrated competitive employment.

OUR GOALS

CECY goals to increase opportunities for youth and young adults to achieve ICE:

- strengthen interagency collaborations and practices between and among local and state agencies.
- enhance the understanding of youth and young adults with IDD, family members, and professionals of effective practices.
- affect policy change at a state and local level.
